Senator Collins Addresses Geriatric's Day Audience at MMC

Senator Susan Collins spoke at MMC's 10th Annual Geriatric's Day Conference the morning of April 8. As Senate co-chair of the Congressional Task Force on Alzheimer's Disease, Collins talked about the urgent need for better funding for Alzheimer's research. "It is imperative that we dramatically increase our investment in Alzheimer's research," she told the crowd.

The Senator also discussed diabetes, end-of-life care, and barriers to treatment and services for the elderly.

Kohl's Vax Kids Wraps Up Successful Yearlong Campaign

The MaineHealth Childhood Immunization Program administered the "Kohl's Vax Kids" program on behalf of The Barbara Bush Children's Hospital in 2014. Kohl's Vax Kids was designed as a social marketing and media campaign targeting vaccine-hesitant parents in York and Cumberland Counties who actively or passively skipped or delayed vaccination because of safety or necessity concerns.

At the cornerstone of the campaign was the concept of "Months Matter" and its related messaging aimed to increase awareness about the necessity of childhood vaccination to maintain child health and motivate parents to discuss vaccination with their child's health care provider.

The project was valuable in raising awareness of ontime childhood immunizations in York and Cumberland counties where the multi-pronged approach had a wide reach. Tactics included:

• Kick-off event and planning session with

"thought leaders"

- Creation and distribution of educational materials and promotional items
- Media outreach and public relations
- Outreach events, including a documentary screening.

The campaign also supported a strong advertising and social media presence with a website and radio, TV, and print ads.

"Improving childhood immunization rates takes more than improvements in clinical care delivery and office workflow," says Jane Ho, M.D., MMP Westbrook Pediatrics. "In order to affect change in parents' beliefs and behaviors, we need to figure out messaging that works and disseminate it through trustworthy channels. The Kohl's Vax Kids program was a great testing ground for some of this work, and I am sure we will be able to build off of the successes we achieved during its implementation."
