Special events to honor employees

It is time once again to recognize the contributions of Maine Medical Center's employees. Many events have been planned by departments for their own employees who have five or more years of service, as well as hospital-wide for all who work here.

Honor Week, June 5 through 9, coincides with the return of the grill to the Courtyard for lunch on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays from 10:30 AM to 1:00 PM, and for dinner on Wednesdays from 4:00 to 6:00 PM. On Monday, all employees are welcome to free coffee in the cafeteria. Food Services also will offer a special hot meal at midnight on Friday, June 9, for those who work the evening and night shifts who are eligible, but unable, to attend the Honor Night dinner at the Holiday Inn by the Bay.

For their employees who have worked at MMC five years or more, Departments will be celebrating in their own ways. Medical Records has planned a luncheon for Thursday and Engineering Services will present awards as part of a recognition ceremony. Those who work in Housekeeping have been invited to receive their pins at coffees at 9:00 A.M. and 9:00 P.M., depending on their work schedules. Laboratory Medicine and Pathology will recognize its employees with an ice cream sundae party on Thursday during which honorees will be given carnations with their pins. A cake will be part of the celebration in Radiology. At a recognition tea on Wednesday, Food Services will present flowers and pins to its eligible employees, and on Thursday, all shifts are invited to a department pizza party. The Ambulatory Surgical Unit will bestow awards and flowers at a small ceremony.

Congratulations and thank you to all for your service and dedication to Maine Medical Center!

Help will be there if you need it

"Most of us do not anticipate having personal problems that warrant professional intervention but when such problems arise, the Employee Assistance Program can be a wonderful, confidential resource for employees." These are the words of Patty Langkopf, manager of Maine Medical Center's new Employee Assistance Program. The program provides assistance to employees and their families for a wide variety of counseling needs that include: marital and family, financial, legal, drug and alcohol, stress, mental illness, and other concerns.

The primary function of Langkopf's office is to act as an assessment and referral service. An MMC employee, or his or her family member, meets with Langkopf to have a personal issue assessed. The program manager then recommends the appropriate treatment, such as counseling, and refers the employee or family member to a community agency or other suitable helper. The assessment is free of charge and confidential; no one will know of the employee's involvement in the program. If services result from a referral, the em-own," says Langkopf, "is that a thorough assessment is provided and subsequent recommendations are fine-tuned to meet the needs of the individual employee. Additionally, all treatment providers used for the purpose of referrals will have been screened to assure that they are qualified to address the problem or problems at hand."

Langkopf has developed a referral network and resource library of community agencies, private practitioners, support groups, attorneys, and alcohol/chemical dependency treatment facilities. In evaluating the quality of referral resources, she looked at the qualifications of the staff, professionally and experientially; determined any specialty areas, such as adolescent or couples therapy; and considered location, fees, sliding fee scales, and length of time in practice.

Since arriving at MMC in early March, the program manager has been creating policies and guidelines, training supervisors in how Employee Assistance supplements their role, providing guidance in the effective use of the program, and care, daycare, community activities, family members, nursery school, and others. How does this affect your family and your child?

The seminars will be presented by Kay Mishkin, Field Coordinator of the CARESHARE Network, a network of family day care homes sponsored by MMC. Mishkin is the parent of two sons, aged 10 and 13, and was a family day care provider for over eleven years. Her experience as a parent and her work with parents over the years make her particularly sensitive to the pressures faced by working parents today.

The first session is one that Mishkin is eager to present. It is one which, to her knowledge, has not been addressed before. She says, "This generation of parents has to cope with the stresses of balancing work and family, but we also have an additional task—to define a whole new relationship. . . that between the parent and the professional caregiver. When we can be understanding and accepting of each other's roles, we'll be better able to invest our energies in the nurturing of the child."

The seminars will offer a format of sharing experiences and ideas, as well as opportunities for discussion among participants. Maine Medical Center employees are welcome to attend any sessions that are of interest to them.

setting forth its goals, as well as developing the referral network.

Informational sessions have been scheduled to give employees the opportunity to ask questions about the new program. All of them will take place in Noyce Auditorium in the Dana Health Education Center. They will be offered on the following dates:

June 12	12:00—1:00 P.M.
June 13	3:00—4:00 P.M.
June 19	11:00—12:00 P.M.
June 20	7:30—8:30 A.M.
June 20	11:00—12:00 P.M.

Prior to coming to Portland, Langkopf was involved with an internal hospital-based employee assistance program in Rochester, New York. This EAP had external contracts with nearly fifty businesses, companies, nursing homes, and other hospitals. Langkopf is a credentialed alcoholism counselor and earned her M.S.W. at the University of Missouri at Columbia.

Patty Langkopf may be reached at 761-8345. Her office is located at 7 Bramhall Street, Suite E.
